Adult Day Care Services

Adult day cares are as different as the thousands of adults they serve. Most adult day cares offer a day program for three or more individuals in a community group setting and are located in an adult day care facility. Normally, they provide social and health-related services, but what is so vitally important about these adult day care programs, is that they support frail, impaired, elderly, or other disabled adults who benefit from care in a group setting outside the home.

Each adult day care does this in its own unique way; however, providers of adult day care must meet North Carolina State Standards for Certification, which are administrative rules (10NCAC 42E) set by the Social Services Commission. These standards are enforced by the office of the Adult Day Care Consultant within the State Division of Aging and Adult Services.

Adult day care provides an organized program of services during the day for the purpose of supporting the personal independence of older adults and promoting their social, physical, and emotional well-being. Programs must offer a variety of activities designed to meet the individual needs and interests of the participants, including referral to and assistance in using other community resources. Food and services to provide a nutritional meal and snacks, as appropriate are also expected. Transportation to and from the program may be provided or arranged when needed and not otherwise available.
